TWO HUNDRED KILLED BY QUAKE IN MEXICO CITY

Shock Wrecked Number of Buildings in Mexican Capital---Seventy Soldiers Buried in Ruins of Quarters---Walls of National Palace Cracked.

Special to Telegram.

Mexico City, June 7.—An earthquake shock at 4 o'clock this morning wrecked a number of buildings in this city and resulted in considerable loss of life. The death list is said to number at least 200. Seventy soldiers were buried in the ruins of their quarters which were completely wrecked by the shock. The earthquake destroyed a number of fashionable homes belong to wealthy people from the United States. No persons from the States were killed. The wall of the national palace was cracked by the shock and the cathedral of Santo Domingo was injured.

Third Name Entered in Senatorial Race in Louisiana.

New Orleans, June 7.—Congressman Robert F. Broussard, representing the third Louisiana district, announced today his candidacy for the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1915, to be voted upon at the Democratic primary this summer. His opponents will be Governor Jared Young Sanders and Congressman Arsene P. Pujot. Mr. Broussard says he will return to Washington to vote on the woolen schedule, after which he will resume his canvass in this State.

Reciprocity Advocates on a Lake Cruise.

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson is the guest of honor of an annual cruise of the Detroit board of commerce—termed the "reciprocity cruise," this year—leaving Detroit at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The board of commerce members, together with Secretary Wilson will champion the reciprocity agreement on board the steamer and at the meeting scheduled in the cities in northern Michigan. (United States Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, who opposed the reciprocity agreement, is also making the trip.

NEW SENSATION SPRUNG IN STEEL TRUST INVESTIGATION

Corporation Charged With Attempting to Control Pennsylvania
Coke Fields.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, June 7.—Charges that the steel trust is consummating a deal to monopolize the coke fields of the Pittsburgh and Connelleville regions were sprung upon Judge Gary during the cross-examination on the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company before the investigating committee. Judge Gary half-heartedly denied the charges.

The charges were made by Robert C. Hall, president of the Pittsburgh Steel Exchange, who quotes United States Senator Oliver in support of his charge. Hall declares that the steel trust's $80,000,000 investment in the Gary, Ind., plant represents a huge economic failure because Illinois coal is not suited to its furnaces. That, he says, is the reason the trust is trying to secure control of the Pennsylvania coke fields.

Judge Gary unequivocally supported the legality of the Tennessee Coal and Iron deal. He characterized Roosevelt's approval of it as "real constructive statesmanship."

Referring to J. Pierpont Morgan Judge Gary said: "I believe that any man of Mr. Morgan's wealth and strength of character and courage can do a great deal of harm in the banking circles as well as good. I believe that power and privileges necessarily involve responsibility and obligation. That applies to the individual or corporation and also to the government. I do not think I would be frank and sincere with this committee if I should say that Mr. Morgan under such circumstances could not do a great deal of harm if he had the disposition to do so. That is true also of other individuals."

SUB-TEXT BOOK COMMISSION WILL BEGIN WORK TODAY

Names of Commission Made Public
by State Superintendent Joyner
—Bids For Text Books Will be Received by Commission During Next Few Days.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 7.—The names of the sub-text commission appointed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner and Governor Kitchen were announced tonight by Superintendent Joyner and there will be a joint meeting of the commission and sub commission tomorrow to receive bids for public school text-book adoption and take up work that will keep the sub commission busy until August 3, when the adoption of books will be completed.

The sub commission consists of N. W. Walker, of the department of education of the University of North Carolina, A. C. Reynolds, county superintendent of Public Instruction of Buncombe county; E. T. Atkinson, county superintendent of public instruction of Wayne county; Z. V. Judd, county superintendent of public instruction of Wake county; R. J. Cochran, county superintendent of public instruction of Mecklenburg county; N. C. Newbold, superintendent of Public Schools of Washington, N. C.

Raleigh, June 7.—The State text-book commission composed of the State officers and the sub-commission of six educators, will meet tomorrow to begin the work incident to the adoption of text books for use in the public schools during the next five years. For the next several days there will be sessions daily for receiving the bids and verbal explanations as to each. Then the sub-commission will take up its work of examining the text-books offered for adoption with a view to recommending books on their merit from the teacher view point for adoption. When this work is completed there will be a joint session of commission and sub-commission for the formal adoption of books, the sub-commissioners having an equal vote with the commissioners in the adoption. The members of the sub-commission will carry on their work in the representatives hall of the State House.

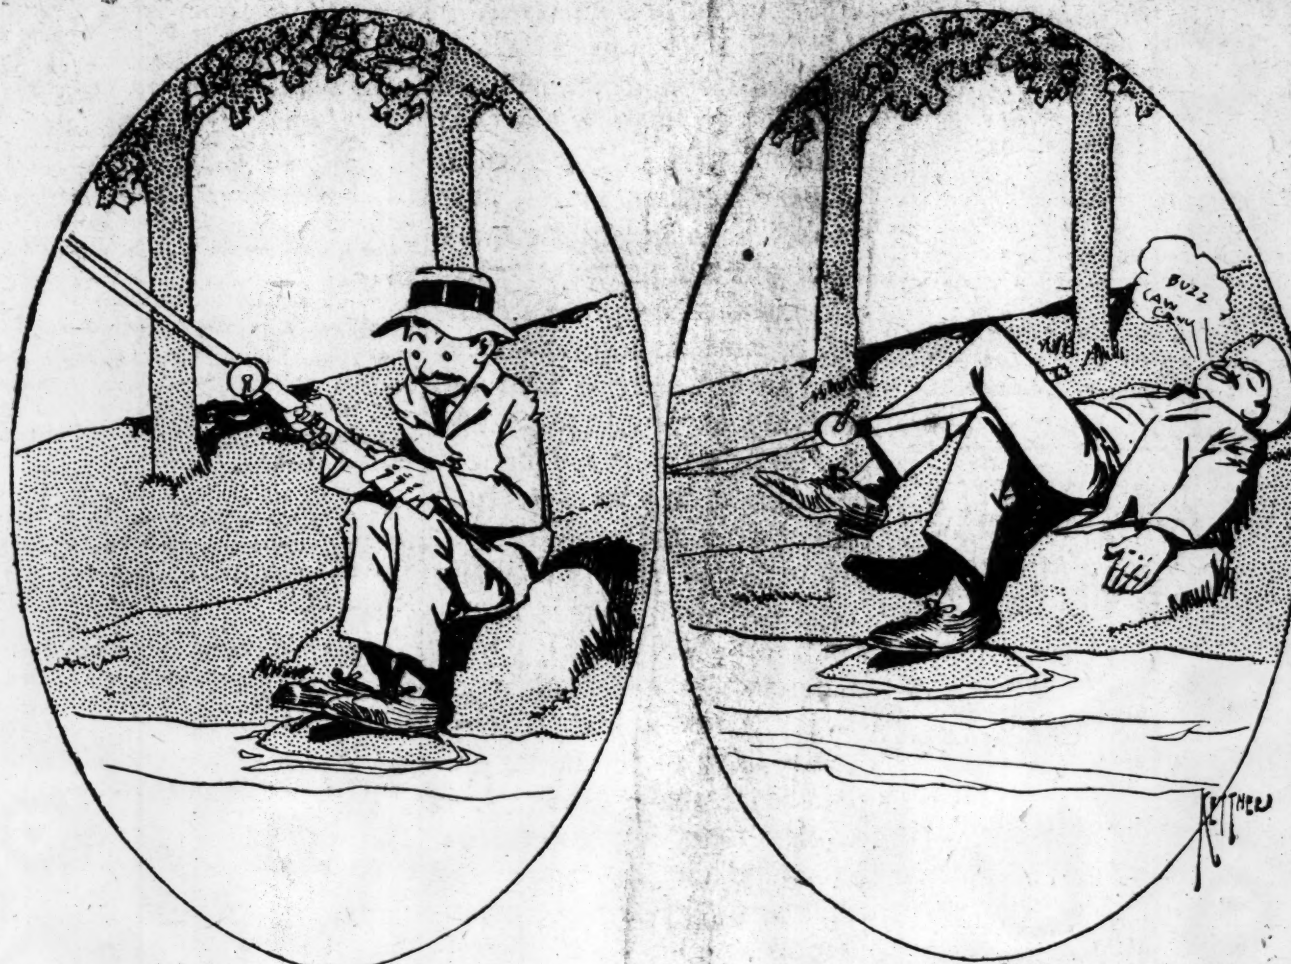

It is learned that The Thompson Printing Company, which was chartered yesterday with J. W. Bailey, A. A. Thompson, Joseph G. Brown and others as incorporators and with $5,000 paid in capital, has for a special purpose the pressing of the adoption of a number of text-books for the North Carolina Public schools by the text-book commission that begins its work of hearing proposals and examination of books offered tomorrow. A prominent member of the company said today in reply to inquiry that while he could not specify to particular books they will offer for adoption, he would say that they would offer about as many as any other bidder.

Hotel Proprietor Shot; Girls Charged With Crime.

Special to Telegram.

New York, June 7.—William Earl Dodge Stokes, proprietor of Hotel Ansonia is in Roosevelt hospital shot in the right thigh and left ankle and Lillian Graham, an actress, aged 22, and Ethel Conrad, an illustrator, aged 18, are prisoners charged with the shooting. At 5 o'clock Stokes was summoned to their apartments at the Verona. The Graham woman says that Stokes grabbed her by the throat and she fired in self defense. Stokes claims that the shooting began when he refused to pay $25,000 and sign a contract for papers. The girls had certain letters presumably written by Stokes to the Graham woman.

W. A. HARPER IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF ELON COLLEGE

Succeeds Dr. E. L. Moffitt Who Resigned on Account of Health---Graduating Exercises
Yesterday---Dr. Moffitt's Address to The Graduating Class

Special to Telegram.

Elon College, June 7.—Dr. E. L. Moffitt, who has served as president of Elon College for six years, two months ago informed the members of the board of trustees that he would not be able to continue as president longer than until the close of the present year. On the assembling of the board yesterday, with great regret and reluctance the resignation was accepted. Dr. Moffitt has done splendid work as president of the college and his many friends, both here and elsewhere deplore his inability to continue the work longer. He takes this step feeling physically unable to endure the strain and stress of it, since his desperate illness a year ago.

Dr. Moffitt is a ready thinker, a ripe scholar, a splendid executive officer and has made good as President. Under his administration the college has greatly increased its patronage, improved its financial outlook. A magnificent dormitory has been established, a central heating and lighting plant installed, and many improvements along many lines have been made. Dr. Moffitt has endeared himself to the people whom he has served so efficiently and made for himself a most enviable reputation as scholar and educator in the State. His retirement from the office which he has honored is generally deplored.

As successor the board has unanimously elected Prof. W. A. Harper, of the Chair of Latin in this institution, who will assume the office at once. Prof. Harper is no novice in the work, having been dean of College faculty for the past year and Prof. of Latin the past six years. He is a graduate of the college, having taken his university work at Yale for two years, where he made an enviable record as a student. The feeling is that Prof. Harper will carry on to success the great work which President Moffitt has initiated and will carry the college to higher usefulness and influence as the years go. Prof. Harper is a man of brilliant parts, a scholar of eminence, and a successful teacher. The trustees have been fortunate indeed in securing him as Dr. Moffitt's successor. The college will prosper under his administration.

The Graduates.

The commencement is in full swing, the literary exercises being of the usual high order and great crowds are in attendance. Today was graduating day, the climax of the college year. The following is the list of graduates:

The graduates in the bachelor courses are Russell Arndt Campbell, Beulah Frances Foster, Mary Lucinda Foster, Sadie Virginia Fonville, Affie Camelia Griffin, Arnold Chester Hall, Edgar Thurman Hines, John Jackson Ingle, few real "castles" in America now, but for those shadowy ones our fore-fathers built in "Spain." Don't be content with the narrow horizons that limits your vision today. Hoist your sail and go forth upon the great unknown, just so you keep your hand on the wheel and your eyes on the "Star," you may not reach the East Indies by sailing West, but you may stumble on greater discoveries than even you yourself had dared dream of. Let them call you visionary; so they said of Fulton when, in his visions by day and in his dreams by night, he saw his steamboat ploughing through the waters of the Hudson, long before the self-styled practical men of his day ever realized that the lunatic asylum had all the inmates to which it was entitled. So they said of Morse long before he flashed the message along the wires from Washington to Baltimore. "What hath God wrought" and his deriders stood dumb-founded and amazed in answer. And so they said of John the Baptist as he went "preaching in the wilderness of Judea, saying, Repent ye; for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." And so, too, they said even of the Christ himself as he went about through Judea and Galilee teaching men the way, the truth and the life, and treating them not to be disobedient into the heavenly vision.

Aspire to great things, expect great things, that's the only possible hope of doing great things. Yes, even "hitch your wagon to a star," if you want to, and who knows but that you may be able to move heaven as well as earth in the effort.

Do not misunderstand me. I do not mean for you to expect or aspire to foolish and impossible or even unreasonable things. If you have not already done so, study yourself, and learn your task, and, if after the inventory, you find you have only two talents, don't expect to perform the task of the fellow by your side who has been endowed with ten; but on the other hand, don't be content until you have gained you two more. The good Lord made you and endowed you with the possibilities of success in some sphere of life. If you study yourself carefully and honestly enough to find out what that sphere is, and then get into it and pursue its highest ideal with all the earnestness and faithfulness of which you are capable, you'll win that success. If the Lord intended for you to make a successful farmer, don't imagine that your college diploma can make you a great preacher. Or if he has called you into the Gospel Ministry, beware of the pill bottle or the councils of State. As some one has said: "The school is to help the boy unpack what intellectual tools he has; education does not change, but puts temper into these tools."

In conclusion, then, young men, young women, let me repeat: I know that as you stand here today in the presence of your parents and friends, under the shadow of your Alma Mater, on the threshold of a new life, great expectations fill your minds, noble aspirations stir in your hearts, high ideals loom up before you. Let me urge you to hold to those impulses, respond to these heart-strings, keep faith with these ideals, for, as the wise man found the manger only by following the Star, so you can hope to reach the goal of your

PROPERTY OF W. E. WORTH SEIZED BY U. S. MARSHAL

Under Order of Court Property of Well Known Wilmington Man is Held to Secure Payment of $30,000 Alleged to be Due Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Special to Telegram.

Wilmington, N. C., June 7.—Following the issuance of an execution yesterday the property of Wm. E. Worth, of this city, was seized today by United States Deputy Marshal J. T. Sharp, of Raleigh, to satisfy a judgment obtained at the recent term of United States court here by the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York for slightly more than $30,000, the amount alleged to be due a contract which Mr. Worth signed for stock in the Rockingham Power Company, which was financed by the trust company.

Mr. Worth has not yet given the necessary bond to regain possession of his property, consisting of realty in the city and county and some stocks and bonds but he will probably give the bonds, otherwise the property will be sold in August.

ELKIN AND ALLEGHANY RAILROAD COMPANY WAS REORGANIZED

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 7.—The Elkin & Alleghany Railroad Company, at a meeting of the stockholders and directors at Elkin today, elected John A. Mills, of this city President and General Manager, H. C. Chatham, Vice President and Alex. Chatham, Secretary and Treasurer; this reorganization being pursuant to the recent agreement between officers of the corporation, the Council of State and northern capitalists that Mr. Mills represents. Mr. Mills is President of the Raleigh & Southport railroad, which he built and has made quite successful in its operation from Raleigh to Fayetteville, with important extensions under way.

Mr. Mills says of his plans for the Elkin & Alleghany that the work of construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible and that he has now representatives in the field letting contracts for cross ties and the work of putting down the rails on the twelve miles of roadbed already graded is to begin very soon. The plan is understood to be push this road on to Jefferson and across the State line into Virginia for important connection with the Norfolk & Southern.

ambition only by following closely and faithfully the high ideals with which to go forth today.

Keep faith with these ideals, for they are high and noble. Live up to them as nearly as possible, and you need not proclaim them to the world—they will express themselves in your useful life. "The musician does not argue for his art," says Mr. Peabody, "He utters it, and those who have care may hear. The bird does not prove the possibility of a flying machine; he spreads his wings and flies, and his life-expression is the demonstration of his power." So it ever is with the man of high ideals; he has no need to tell the world that they are high. He simply lives them, and men know he has them because in pursuing them, they see him rise from height to height as the days and years of his life are told.

Durham, June 7.—With plans for an endowment of $1,000,000, gifts amounting to $100,000 on a general resume of the work done during the year, Trinity college commencement exercises for 1911 came to a close today with a powerful address by Jacob A. Riis, of New York, and with the awarding of thirty-five diplomas to the graduates. Together with the big reception tonight in the west wing of the Washington Duke building it marks the end of what Ex-President Killgo has called the greatest year Trinity college has had in all her history.

The address of Jacob Riis was one of the most brilliant literary efforts ever heard here. He is a master of clear, cogent English and has a trick of giving the crucial points of his argument a dramatic ring which carries one away with its force and truthfulness.

The subject he chose for his address this morning, "The Problem of Social Amelioration and Civic Betterment," was one upon which no man in America today is better qualified to speak than he. It was his life message boiled down into a speech of an hour that Jacob Riis delivered to the graduating class this morning. A message of social evils yet remaining to be remedied, of filthy places waiting for the clean-up man of political shortcomings waiting the corrective master touch. It was clear and inspiring call to the men and women about to take active part in the life about them, to lend their ideals and their strength to the work of making the world a better, cleaner, healthier and purer place to live in.

The announcement of the plans for the additional $1,000,000 endowment was received with much applause. For two days the members of the education boards of the two Methodist conferences of North Carolina have labored, outlining this vast fund and the means for raising the same. Each conference will endeavor to raise $100,000, thus North Carolina will contribute one-fifth of this sum. With the announcement of this huge endowment fund for Trinity also came the announcement of gifts from Messrs. J. B. and N. B. Duke as follows: $100,000 in land situated between Broad street and the old car line and adjoining the campus, $50,000 from Mr. J. B. Duke for the erection of an additional dormitory to complete the design already approved by the college, and being the left wing to the Greater Trinity buildings, $10,000 from Mr. B. N. Duke to be used in making improvements to Trinity campus.

LUMBER BRIDGE COMPANY MADE THE HIGHEST SCORE

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 7.—Company L, Second Regiment, of Lumber Bridge, won highest score in the championship target practice. The Dupont Silver Cup was to be awarded to the winner of the highest score at the championship shoot, but there is some question as to the persons of the three teams not having been the same as at the other shoots so it may result in the cup being retained by the Raleigh company in shoot just closed.

Lumber Bridge made a score of 1160; the next highest was Asheville with 1167 and Raleigh with 1111. The winning score in the initial regimental contests was 1090 by the Raleigh team.

Those who celebrate the Fourth of July in a safe and sane manner will undoubtedly have occasion for giving thanks on the day of national thank-giving.

Charlotte's ball team, with its strong penchant for losing is a better loser than the city it represents. Fact is,
the team is a good loser and the city a bad loser.

New York Tribune thinks it is the name and not the tobacco that many smokers enjoy. This looks like a sly attempt to put Durham, North Carolina,
on the map.

Twenty million firecrackers just from China have been delivered in New York City—and we have been hearing that
New York was to have a safe and sane
Fourth this year.

As President Taft will have to depend on Democratic Senators to put his measures through the Senate, it seems that he has both the elephant and the donkey
on his hands.

New York World says there is more Democratic party nowadays than Mr.
Bryan can lead. However, it is quite probable that Mr. Bryan can lead a much larger part of the Democratic party than has ever been willing to follow the World.

It will probably be unwise to begin Christmas shopping until after the Fourth of July, but those who expect to find use on that date for flags and fireworks, may now begin to consider their purchases.

The Greensboro team loses a game occasionally, but Greensboro fans boost the team whether it wins or loses. That is the surest way to encourage the team to win. This pointer is offered the people of Charlotte free of charge.

This city is a source of constant surprises to people in benighted places like Greenville, S. C. The newspapers down
there spend most of their spare time watching Greensboro and wondering what progressive movement will be the next inaugurated here.

Boston woman who always refused to tell her age, provided in her will that the date of her birth should not appear on the coffin in which she was buried.
The average woman does not object to having her age known after death, and the Boston woman is an exception to the rule.

As we have mentioned before, the people of Winston-Salem, Durham, Raleigh, Charlotte and the majority of the other towns of the State devote a large part of their time to watching Greensboro do things. This is all right. Greensboro is willing to furnish good examples for the others to follow and is always pleased to see the other towns trying to do things in imitation of those done here.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Opinions in regard to business conditions and the business outlook vary in their summing up the present state of affairs. There is considerable difference of opinion expressed, making it somewhat difficult for the average business man to correctly estimate conditions and prospects. The Philadelphia Record's view of business, based on commercial reports and the information secured by financial journals and newspapers, is summed up in the following article, which is probably not far from being a reasonably correct estimate of actual conditions:

"The cotton area is materially larger than that of a year ago. In this the Department of Agriculture and two leading commercial papers agree. The amount of increase over last year is estimated at from something over 4 to more than 6 per cent. If we take the figures of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle the cotton area has increased more than 30 per cent. in six years, indicating that the supply is responding promptly to the demand.
The official report shows cotton to be in a much better condition than a year ago, or the average for ten years, so that a continuance of present prospects should give us a good deal the biggest cotton crop ever picked.

"The importance of the cotton crop to the business of the country can hardly be exaggerated. It is about the largest 'money' crop we have, and with plenty of money in its pocket the South will be a large buyer of pretty nearly every sort of manufacture and many articles of food sold by the North.

The most important commercial fact of last week was the cutting of most of the steel prices by the Steel Corporation. The immediate effect has not been to stimulate buying, because a cut leads customers to wait to see whether there may not be further cuts.
The belief is that prices are as low
as they will go, and that presently
there will be a large increase of buying.

"As indicated by bank clearings, the volume of trade last week was practically the same as the week before and a little less than a year ago. Railroad gross earnings for the last week reported on continue to show a decrease from last year, and the loss for the third week of May was heavier than for some previous weeks. But in two weeks ending May 24 the number of idle cars decreased 20,000, which is half of the decrease since March 15.
The decrease was in all classes of cars,
but mainly in coal cars. The number of idle cars now is about 50,000 greater than a year ago, but the whole number of cars is also greater.

"A very marked sign of increased business confidence is the expansion of share trading on the New York Stock Exchange. The number of shares sold in May was nearly double the number sold in April, and not very much behind the number sold in May of last year. The par value of bonds sold in May was nearly double the amount sold in April, and more than double the amount sold in May, 1910. This heavy buying of bonds is not a new feature,
but the movement in shares is.

"The Iron Age thinks there will be no such sudden increase of buying steel
as was precipitated in February, 1909,
by general price cutting, but that in a week or two buyers will be convinced that they can gain nothing by waiting.
The Iron Trade Review says that some of the steel companies are very conservative about taking contracts.

"Cotton speculations has been rather quiet, with very little weakening of prices as a result of the crop report.
Boston wool dealers say they have been doing a good business, and unsold
stocks have been materially reduced.
No general advance of prices has occurred, but some sales show fractional improvement, and holders are refusing bids they would gladly have accepted a fortnight ago. In the Philadelphia wool market there was a rather better feeling, though much actual increase in business. A big Chicago jobbing house reports a much better business
in the cotton goods market, and says
some of the mills are sold for a good while ahead. In the East the goods markets showed continued moderate improvement. Jobbers reported an increased demand from retailers for staple domestics and seasonal goods. There have been moderate duplicate orders
for men's wear woollens, and some mills are well sold up for the season. Worsteds are not doing quite so well as wool-
ens. It is between seasons for dress goods.

"There is continued improvement in boots and shoes, but wholesalers are buying cautiously. The leather market improves gradually, and the hide markets have shown further strength.

"The May wheat deal closed with bull operators holding 15,000,000 bushels, on which they were likely to stand a considerable loss. There has been an advance, however, in July wheat, and corn futures in Chicago show a small advance.
Lard has declined on lower prices for hogs."

"THE NEW SOUTH."

The above caption forms the title of a beautiful booklet issued by the North Carolina Public Service Company of this city and High Point. The booklet contains forty pages and is filled with pictures of the streets, industries, public buildings educational institutions and residences of the two Guilford county

cities in which the Public Service Company owns and operates the trolley lines and lighting and gas plants. Typograph-ically the booklet is a work of art. The paper is excellent, the pictures are artistically done and the press work is first class.

"The New South" booklet contains facts about Greensboro and High Point
business and industries, population,
schools, etc., etc., and sixty-five views
of this city and about twenty-five views of High Point. This booklet will undoubtedly make a fine impression among strangers and its wide circulation will prove a splendid advertisement for this city and High Point. The Public Service Company is placing these booklets where they will accomplish the most good in advertising the two cities, and the results ought to justify the expenditure, which was evidently a considerable sum.

The Telegram commends the enterprise
displayed by the Public Service Company in having these booklets distributed.

HIGH POINT TROLLEY LINE TO BE EXTENDED

High Point, June 7.—The Public Service Company, through their representative, Z. V. Taylor, and consulting engineer, Mr. Clark, appeared before the Council with reference to extending the street car lines within the city limits,
and it was agreed that in lieu of the two miles of interurban track to be laid but which the city could not compel the company to operate, that they be required to build a line on English street from Main to near the city limits in the western section of the city, and to also extend the line on North Main street, bringing the same around so as to give service to the City Park. This arrangement will not in any way side-track or interfere with the building of the through interurban line, which will doubtless be built within the next year.

Mayor Tate submitted to the Council
a list of proposed street improvements
and extensions to water and sewer lines, showing the proposed work, subject of course to changes, as may be deemed advisable. The entire measurement calls for about 50,000 feet of street curbing, 25,000 square yards of macadam and about 25,000 feet of water pipe with probably 50 additional fire hydrants; also several extensions to the present sewer lines, with one or two new sewer lines.
The entire proposed improvements have been figured carefully and it is found that a large amount of work can be done
with the present bond issue.

FEDERAL COURT IN RALEIGH PREPARING FOR TRUST CASE TRIAL

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 6.—Good progress is being made in the Federal court before Judge Connor in going through affidavits and other documentary evidence to settle upon its admissibility before a jury
as a preliminary to the jury trial of Ware-Kramer Tobacco Company vs.
American Tobacco Company, beginning June 13. The principal difference is that counsel for the plaintiff have taken much affidavit matter that is claimed by counsel for the defense is purely testimony that involves the opinion of the jury. For instance they have asked questions of persons making the affidavits as to who is controlling the tobacco business of the country. Counsel for the defense claim that the prosecution can show the interest the defendants have in the way of stock and other means of control but that these other matters are purely issues for the jury when other competent facts are presented in evidence. Counsel have lodged motions that the court have each party to produce all books and records in court for the trial
and Judge Connor has intimated his purpose to require both parties to the litigation to produce their books except in so far as the defendant is by statute
exempted from so doing in a penalty suit. Representing The American Tobacco Company are Aycock & Winston,
Raleigh; Junius Parker, of New York;
Mr. Perkins, of New York; F. L. Fuller, Durham, and for The Ware-Kramer Co.,
there are Mr. Green, of Norfolk; F. A.
Woodard, C. C. Daniels, Wilson; F. S.
Spruill, Rocky Mount; and F. A. Woodard, Wilson.

Advertising Talks H. G. B.

It is a remarkable thing to note that in the smaller cities
where rents are cheap AD-VERTISING SPACE
CHEAPER and other fixed expenses way below the standard paid in larger cities
that the merchants rarely ever
use as much advertising space
as do those in the larger cities.

For instance there are a number of merchants and business men in Greensboro who are carrying as large stocks and are doing as great a volume of business as merchants in much larger cities and who feel that ten or fifteen dollars a month,
perhaps twenty-five, is an excessive advertising cost,

whereas the merchant in the larger cities would perhaps spend forty to a hundred dollars in a single issue. It is useless to try to argue that the merchant in the larger city
does not get returns commen-surate with his outlay, he certainly would not continue to greater return on the small cost to him for his advertising.

Uses an Antidote.

"I shouldn't think you could stand it to associate with Jones so much. He is wrong in the head on the subject of chickens, and you must know it. He talks about them in his sleep, thinks about them during the sermon and interrupts an intelligent baseball conversation to give us the score his hens made last week. He would put me to the bad in a week."

"You don't know how to utilize him."
"I would be tempted to utilize him
as a punching bag."

"You are too impetuous. Now, I find Jones a valuable ally. When Binks comes along and starts talking about his baby I wait until he has to draw a breath and then mention chickens.
That sets Jones going, and I slip out and then enjoy themselves. I turn over all bores to him, on the theory that likes cures like."

500 FOR GOMPERS DINNER.

Seventeen Congressmen to Pay Respects
to Labor Leaders.

Washington, June 7.—Invitations were sent out today to 500 friends of the labor cause for a dinner to be given in Washington on June 14, in honor of Samuel Gompers, president; John Mitchell, vice-president, and Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

The dinner is intended as a congratulatory celebration of the dismissal by the Supreme Court of the United States of the contempt case and jail sentences against the three labor leaders. At the dinner will be 17 members of Congress who carry union cards.

Justice Wright, of the District Court,
is making an investigation through a special commission, to determine whether to start new proceedings against the labor leaders on the old contempt charges.

OMAHA TO HOLD BIG TENNIS EVENT

National Clay Court Championships to Be Held Aug. 5 to 12.

RECORD ENTRY LIST EXPECTED

Over One Hundred and Seventy Experts From Different Sections of the Country Have Announced Their Intention of Competing in the Event.

Judging by present indications the national clay court tennis championships to be held in Omaha Aug. 5 to 12 will be the greatest ever held. Already over 175 racket experts from different sections of the country have announced their intention of competing in the different events.

With an entry list of 103 players, the first clay court national event last year made its mark as the greatest of the kind ever held. The comparison between that record and what is promised for the coming tourney shows that the approaching event will be at the limit of rosette possibilities.

It is reported that the Pacific Coast Tennis association will send a classy delegation to Omaha. The delegation is to travel eastward first and engage in contests beyond the Mississippi river. It will be composed of Bundy, McLaughlin, Summer, Hardy and Miss Hotchkiss. The men, it is almost assured, will swing back to Omaha from Chicago after the event in the last named city, which occurs the week before the Omaha tourney.

Melville Long of San Francisco, present holder of the clay court championship, will of course be on hand at the meet to defend his title against all comers. There is a mighty fine chance of the redoubtable Long relinquishing the coveted prize, too, according to a great many enthusiasts who are in on the "know," their beliefs being applied to three or four speedy racket men from the east and south. It is expected that Champion William A. Larned, Beals Wright, William J. Clothier and several other big eastern men will be on hand.

One of the fortunate features of the approaching national tourney is the fact that it occurs at a time when there is no other meeting of tennis men to conflict.

SNODGRASS DISAPPOINTMENT

Last Year Batting Star, but This Season Has Fallen by Wayside.

What is the matter with the batting of Snodgrass? Last year the New York Nationals' young center fielder was a big stickler with a top notch average, leading the National league in hitting at one period of the race. This year he has been unable to keep up the good work, and the fans are wondering why. Maybe the opposing pitchers have discovered a weak point and are working it for all they are worth. There's a bond of sympathy among boxmen, by the way, for the moment a pitcher discovers the vulnerable spot in a batsman's makeup he generally communicates the information to his fellow craftsmen. This freemasonry has existed for many years.

New York to Halifax Yacht Race. The Brooklyn Yacht club's race from New York to Halifax, N. F., will take place July 22. The distance is 645 miles, and it will be open to motorboats measuring from forty-five to eighty feet. Trophies and $1,000 in cash go to the winner in each class.

HORSES FOR ARMY

Rich Men to Remedy Defect in U. S. Cavalry.

Give Cavalrymen Chance in Future International Contests—Six Thoroughbreds Donated by New York Horse Lovers.

Washington.—The United States cavalry will not be allowed to lose another international test of horsemanship for lack of good horses, if the committee of rich New Yorkers can remedy the defect. Recently six fine thoroughbred jumpers were bought for the army at Warrenton, Va., from a fund subscribed by New York horse lovers immediately after the defeat of American cavalrymen at the horse show in that city. The horses cost $10,500. Other horses are to be bought immediately, the lot assembled at Fort Meyer, where the officers to ride them will be brought and their first real test will come at Olympia, London, where the international horse show will be held in June with events open to cavalrymen of all nations.

At the New York show last winter it was the firm conviction of the present syndicate behind the movement to properly mount the American soldiers that the soldiers themselves were the best horsemen in the ring and only lost first prize because of their poor mounts. In the syndicate are John E. and Elliott Calvin and a number of other rich New Yorkers, who have previously seen service in the army as volunteers in the Spanish war. Among the horses bought at the recent purchase were Timberlost, Justine, Hilltop and Tampico, all of which have been exhibited at horse shows throughout the country. They have been trained to the hunt for at least two years each, and are capable of doing a five foot barrier without inconvenience at any time.

The question of properly mounting cavalrymen for show purposes only opens up the broad aspect of mounts for the cavalry in general. In all recent wars the United States has been one of the biggest and best horse markets for the army quartermaster. It is predicted by high army officers that it never will be again for the reason that the army itself is having a hard time getting mounts for even the most ordinary purposes. Speed, stamina, or some other requisite quality is nearly always missing and there is hardly a cavalry troop in the army today properly mounted. A few years ago the department of agriculture took up the question of improving the breed of the American horse, and has established a stock farm where trotting horses, almost exclusively, are being bred and scientifically observed. The question of improving the standard of cavalry horses, however, while much discussed in military circles has not sufficiently attracted the attention of congress to bring about even a reasonable appropriation for this purpose.

French cavalry is universally admitted to be the best mounted in the world. For many years the French government has had its official buyers in the horse market with the result that they have picked up the cream of the offerings, and the French cavalry today is as efficient as it possibly can be in horse flesh. The horse question is becoming a very serious matter in the army, and it is only a question of time when something radical will have to be done to remedy the present situation. It is hoped that the patriotic pride now being exhibited by the New York syndicate in providing proper mounts for army officers for show purposes will spread to congress for practical army purposes.

FISHER SAVES COAL TO NATION. Secretary of the Interior Fisher already is giving practical evidence of his intention to see that the government's interests in coal and other resources are preserved in grants of lands that may be made. Following his action in disapproving the plat of a proposed township on the Fort Peck Indian reservation in Montana—one of the first official acts after he entered the cabinet—he has taken steps to safeguard valuable coal deposits underlying the Fort Lewis Indian school lands in Colorado.

Congress some time ago authorized the gift of the Fort Lewis school and lands to the state of Colorado, on condition that the gift be accepted before June, 1911, and also on the condition that the state maintain a school there. Colorado was slow in accepting.

Secretary Fisher has taken the position that congress did not mean to give away the $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 in coal deposits on the tract, and President Taft has accepted his opinion. It is yet time to reserve the deposits.

SECRET SERVICE IS ABUSED.

"Here is the illustration of how easy it is for a man to get money when he isn't entitled to it; and here, on the other hand, is an exhibition proving how hard it is for him to get that which is his by right." W. H. Moran, assistant chief of the secret service, waved aloft two documents as he made the remark, and a look of intense weariness passed over his sleuthlike face.

"The first of these, he continued, 'is a letter from a business man out west complaining that he cashed a check for a man who claimed to be a member of the secret service; and the second is an expense account turned in by one of our own men who was with the president at Augusta, Ga. The comtroller of the treasury, who is the auditor of last resort for all such matters, holds that although our man spent the money for his hotel bill and other necessary items at Augusta, he cannot collect it for a full month. We have no money in this bureau for extraordinary expenses of this sort, and although the man needs the money and needs it badly today, he must wait until the slow wheels of the treasury department turn around to just the proper point.

"No wonder hundreds of the government employees are driven into the clutches of the loan sharks. But when it comes to getting money by fraud, as the letter from the swindled merchant proves, any man, apparently, who needs a certain sum, can drop in almost anywhere, look mysteriously, whisper: 'I'm on the secret service,' and get away with it. To say the least, it is a compliment to the service. Of course in this case we hope to learn that the impersonator is eventually caught, but the prospects are not over bright. The country is very large."

MAGAZINES AS FAST FREIGHT.

Magazines and other bulky periodicals after July 1 next will be transported by the postoffice department by railroads as fast freight.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is developing as rapidly as possible plans which he decided upon last December to utilize fast freight in the transportation of magazines when practicable, and in instances where a saving to the government in transportation charges may be effected.

"The plans I have decided upon," said Mr. Hitchcock, "are not proposed as a solution of the pending controversy over the suggested increase of the second class mail rates on the advertising sections of magazines, but they probably will tend to bring about a solution of that question the more easily."

The quadrennial weighing of the mails in the third contract section of the country, comprising the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri has just been completed.

From July 1 next periodicals that can be transported in carload lots by fast freight through the section weighed without disadvantage in delivery will be carried in this manner and paid for at the freight rates. The weights of the periodicals taken during the present quadrennial weighing will be excluded from the basis of adjustment of transportation pay for the four-year term on the railways affected.

Distributing terminals have been established in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, St. Paul and Cincinnati. Through matter that can be sent through the weighing section by freight and such additional distribution as is necessary before the matter is delivered to other railway postoffice lines will be done at the terminals.

"We expect," said Mr. Hitchcock, "to effect considerable economies, not only in actual cost of transportation of matter, but also in the railway postoffice cost pay, in the section that is now being weighed, and as the other sections are weighed and the plans adjusted to them the aggregate saving to the government will be very large."

ARMY WILL TRAIN AVIATORS.

An outline of the war department's plans for training aviators and making the aeroplane a practicable auxiliary have been submitted to the Aero Club of America by Gen. James Allen of the signal corps. He says:

"It is the desire of the government to buy as many machines as possible. These machines will be selected as best suited for military work, while every effort will be made to advance aviation throughout the country with the available funds.

"An aerodrome will be established at San Antonio, where six or seven machines will shortly be assembled. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in training officers and men, but the plans of the government will change this in the near future.

"Aerodromes will be built on the government reservations at Fort Riley, Fort Leavenworth, West Point, Governor's Island and a location near the capital. Every person who owns an aeroplane will be invited to occupy a hangar on the government reservations and thereby assist in training the officers selected by the war department for instruction.

"The government will send officers for observation to the coming Belmont Park meets and others of importance throughout the country. About 30 officers will be detailed for aviation duty this year, and this number will be increased next year. The government will promote the science by providing suitable places for experiments and lend all possible aid to young aviators and inventors, which will serve to promote the cause of aviation and prove of inestimable benefit to the nation, from a military and naval standpoint.

MANY NEGROES HOLD OFFICE.

Negroes are numerous in the departments in Washington. Many of them have rendered long service for distinguished public men and their families. They are employed as doorkeepers or messengers to members of the cabinet or their assistants. The interior department has three colored men who have long seen service in public life. One of them was a body servant of Robert E. Lee before the Civil war. Another served as driver for Mrs. John A. Logan for ten years. The latest recruit, John Washington, was a coachman for President Roosevelt in the last two years of his administration.

FISH CAPER WHEN DRUNK

"As drunk as a fish" is a common expression, but not many people ever saw a fish drunk. However, those who attended a temperance demonstration by E. F. Sutherland of Columbus, Ind., were permitted to see intoxicated fish. Sutherland placed fish in a tank of water and added alcohol to the water. In a little while the fish began cutting capers that would have surprised any self-respecting member of the fishy tribe. By and by the alcohol became too strong for the fish, and they started to turn on their backs. Sutherland saved their lives by transferring them to fresh water. They were soon sober, and apparently were unharmed.

NEW MOUNT FOR CZAR'S ARMY

The Russian war office has recently approved the mongopzebe for mounting certain of the czar's cavalry regiments that are stationed in Asia. This animal is a cross between the Mongolian pony and the zebra, and is being bred in large numbers at the Russian government stud farm in the Crimea. He is a sturdy beast, particularly well fitted to the work in Siberia. The name "mongopzebe" is fanciful and not yet officially adopted.

CALF BORN WITHOUT A TAIL

Frank Jackson, a farmer, living eight miles south of Greensburg, Ind., owns a calf which was born without a tail. There is no scar or mark of any kind where the caudal appendage should be. Another peculiar feature about this calf is its walk, or jump. It uses its hind legs much as a rabbit does in propelling itself. Otherwise the calf is the same as any ordinary calf, and shows signs of becoming strong and healthy.

QUEEN OF MOONSHINERS.

Girl Guarding Still Shoots Hats Off Revenue Officers As A Warning. Muskogee, Okla., June 7.—Revenue officers whose hats were shot off by Maude Black, a comely, dark-haired girl, when they went prowling into the Klammich Mountains seeking "moonshiners," are not going to get off so easy next time, according to her declaration in court.

She is held as a witness in a case against John Thompson and "Jim" Cantrell, captured in a raid near Eufala. The girl is Thompson's sweetheart, and, angered by his arrest, she threatens to take better aim hereafter.

She declared she was an expert rifle and revolver shot, and in answer to a query as to her marksmanship said calmly: "Oh, I could shoot that officer's star off his breast at 100 yards without any trouble. Once I shot two officers' hats off their heads at about that distance, when they came nosing around too near. I could have killed them, but I didn't want to do that. I stood guard while John and Jim worked the still."

Maude Black is barely out of her teens, but has earned the title of "Queen of the Moonshiners."

Questioned as to her knowledge of the art of making "white mule," the moonshine whiskey of the Ozarks, she professed to know all the tricks of the trade, saying she had learned them while a small girl. The still is located in a section of the mountain region where one wild ravine follows another. A path leads down in a zigzag manner, and along this the girl says she has sat for many hours at a time on guard while the men worked in the still. It was while she was away and the men were asleep that the arrests were made.

HOUSE SKATES TWELVE MILES

People living along the shore of Lake Champlain were astonished not long ago to see a house running away across the ice. The owner of Willaboro Point, a peninsula opposite Burlington, wished to move a house about half a mile over the ice. While the workmen were arranging the skids a great gust of wind struck the house and it started at a lively gallop up the lake. It was soon traveling at a forty-mile clip. The sight of the forty-foot two-story building as it twisted, tumbled, twirled and turned terrified the fish but colony. The house finally banged diagonally on a ridge and came to a standstill after a twelve-mile run.

W. L. Spoon Will Supervise Road Work in Forsyth County

Winston-Salem, June 7.—At the meeting of the county board of road supervisors yesterday, Mr. W. L. Spoon, of Burlington, State Highway Engineer, was elected as road engineer of Forsyth county at a salary of $3,600 per year to supervise all permanent road work as well as to look after all work on dirt roads in the county.

Mr. Spoon is government road expert and his salary has been paid heretofore jointly by the government and the State of North Carolina. He will resign his position as State engineer to accept the offer made him by this county. He has secured an office over the board of trade rooms and will begin active work Monday in mapping out a campaign for improving the entire road system of the county.

The election of Mr. Spoon promises to mark the beginning of a new era in permanent road construction in Forsyth county. He built the first macadam road ever constructed in this county and it is standing in almost perfect condition today.

It is generally thought that his election precludes a bond issue of several hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of building a system of good roads that will serve all the complex interests of the Forsyth county of the future.

PROVIDES HEAVY FINE

Measure to Prevent Attempts to Influence Members of Congress.

Washington, June 7.—Inspired by intimations that reprisals would be made on Democratic Leaders Underwood and other representatives who advocated investigation of the so-called steel trust, Representative Boehne, of Indiana, today introduced a bill punishing by a maximum of $5,000 fine or five years' imprisonment threats of coercion of members of Congress, or the closing down of mills or factories for political effect by corporation managers or others. Mr. Boehne also introduced a bill providing penalties for employers who attempt to intimidate their employees in elections.

Mr. Underwood recently announced that he had been told that if he permitted disturbance in the steel industry the mills in Birmingham, Ala., his home town, would be closed and his political fortunes affected.

MOTION MADE FOR BAIL.

Counsel Seeks Release of Wilson and His Associates.

New York, June 7.—Counsel for Christopher Columbus Wilson, president of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, and his four associates argued today for their admission to bail pending appeals from the prison sentences imposed for using the mails to defraud investors. It was alleged that an error had been committed in the trial, because District Attorney Henry A. Wise had not informed the defense that juror No. 11 had been approached with a proposal to "hang" the jury, in consideration of a bribe.

District Attorney Wise, who argued against the prisoners being released, said a number of persons connected in similar cases had fled the country, after being admitted to bail. Unless there is favorable intervention in the court's decision tomorrow, the convicted men will start their prison sentences at once.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., June 7.—The map shows fair weather over the entire belt with exception of the Atlantic coast towns where it is cloudy. Indications are for stationary conditions except possibly increasing cloudiness in West Texas and Oklahoma but there is no general rain in sight. The Carolina coast districts may get more showers. Detailed records show 13 stations in Texas with temperatures of from 100 to 106 degrees. The temperature average yesterday for the State of Oklahoma was 104 degrees.

PASTORS OF COUNTY AND LAYMEN WILL HOLD CONFERENCE

Meet Here Today to Discuss Plan for Enlistment of All Churches in County in Plan for Evangelization of World in This Generation.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock in the annex of West Market Street Methodist church will be held a conference of pastors and laymen from the different churches throughout the county, the purpose of the conference being to discuss a plan for enlisting all the churches in the county in the work of evangelizing the world during the present generation. There are more than 85 regularly supplied churches in the county and a large number not regularly supplied and it is expected that each church will be represented by the pastor and one or more laymen.

Two sessions will be held and at the noon hour a luncheon will be served by the ladies, the spread being prepared in the basement of the annex.

A. M. Seales will preside over the sessions. John McEachren, State Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, will attend the meeting. The program follows:

LOST BRIDE IS FOUND.

Western Couple Will Go to Copenhagen to Spend Interrupted Honeymoon.

New York, June 7.—Francis Dubois, the rich miner from Porepune, Ont., found his lost bride today. Thursday they will sail for Copenhagen to spend the interrupted honeymoon at Mrs. Dubois's old home.

Dubois and his wife were on their way from Porepune Sunday, when he went back for his overcoat at a little railroad restaurant, and the train proceeded without him. As soon as he reached New York he began a search for Mrs. Dubois. Meanwhile his wife was trying just as anxiously to find him. They met at a hotel in Hoboken, where Mrs. Dubois had been sent by the captain of the steamer on which they had engaged passage.

Strohacker was employed in a local grain elevator, and became seriously ill after eating his noonday lunch. Physicians found that strychnine had been placed on a slice of bread. Strohacker lay at the point of death for a long time, and meanwhile his wife was arrested. Strohacker refused to believe that his wife was in any way connected with the poisoning, and supported her throughout the trial.

INDIANS STOP A TRAIN.

Yaquis Search Cars in Arizona, But Rob No One.

Tucson, Ariz., June 7.—Official information has reached here that a band of Yaqui Indians near Corral recently held up a passenger train, searched it, and then allowed it to proceed without molesting any one. The Indians acted as if hunting for some particular person. This band is reported to have seized two carloads of provisions at Empalme and one carload at Hermosillo.

Major Burnham, representing the John Hays Hammond interests in the Yaqui delta, arrived here Sunday, and confirms the reports of demands made by the Yaqui Indians for the return to them of the delta lands and seven towns. The government, he said, has promised the Yaquis justice if they will not enter the towns in question or make trouble. An armed truce now exists.

MERCEDES ON DRY DOCK.

Vessel Captured From Spain, Now Training Ship, Being Repaired.

New York, June 7.—Her hull covered with barnacles, and sadly in need of paint, the old Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, one of the spoils of the War with Spain, is today in the dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. She was one of the largest ships of the Spanish navy. After being raised she was converted into a station ship, without machinery, and with her deck housed over, and sent to Newport, R. I., as a training ship. She will keep about 100 men busy for a week, and will then be sent back to her post.

IN SESSION AT CLEVELAND

Meeting of Perry's Victory Centennial Commission.

Cleveland, O., June 7.—The interstate board of the different State Perry's Victory Centennial Commissions meeting here today passed favorably on all plans submitted, and all arrangements for the erection of the memorial and other buildings for the celebration to be held on Put-in-Bay Island, Lake Erie, in 1913, were placed in the hands of a building committee composed of General Nelson A. Miles, Colonel Henry A. Waterson and George H. Worthington, of Cleveland.

A permanent memorial to the hero of the battle of Lake Erie will be established.

MILLIONS OF COB PIPES

Corn cob pipes continue to bring fame to Missouri and money to the five towns which make a specialty of manufacturing them. This unique industry, while still in its infancy, netted seven factories $458,418 in 1910. The production of 1910 amounted to 26,455,548 pipes.

CONTINUANCE IN CASE AGAINST W. V. MOSS SECURED

Raleigh Man Charged With Impersonating Revenue Officer Recognized Until December Term—Case Against Sidna Allen Now in Progress in Federal Court.

In United States Court yesterday the case against W. V. Moss was called and the government asked for a continuance. Counsel for Moss agreed to the continuance, provided Moss be allowed to go on his own recognizance until the next term of court. Accordingly Moss was recognized in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the December term of court. Moss was charged with impersonating a revenue officer with intent to defraud. He left yesterday for his home in Raleigh.

In the case of Walter Gentry, the Forsyth youth charged with injuring a United States mail box, prayer for judgment was continued, the defendant being bound over until the December term in a bond of $100.

Lulay Darnell and Evan McKnight were found not guilty of the charge of illicit distilling. In the latter case the evidence seemed so strong that Judge Boyd excused the juryman who sat on the case from further service during the term.

The case against Sidna Allen, the charge being perjury, was taken up yesterday morning at the remainder of the day consumed in the case. Three witnesses were examined during the day and there are 12 other witnesses for the government. The defendant has three witnesses so it is hardly probable that the case will be concluded before Friday.

WILL ATTEND THE INTERNATIONAL S. S. CONVENTION

J. Van Carter, secretary of the North Carolina Sunday School Association, passed through the city last night on his way to San Francisco to attend the sessions of the International Sunday School Association, which will be held in that city June 20-27. Mr. Carter will stop over in Nashville to spend a few days with his brother and will join the remainder of the North Carolina delegation, N. B. Broughton, Raleigh; Rev. A. G. Dixon, High Point, and J. W. Thompson, Goldsboro, in Kansas City. Here the party will board the Boston special, a train for the exclusive use of the Sunday school workers. Stops will be made at the Grand Canyon, Los Angeles, Mt. Tamalpa and Santa Fe.

The sessions of the International Association will continue for seven days and the program is one of the most interesting ever arranged by the committee in charge. It is expected that 4,000 delegates from all parts of the continent will be in attendance.

Among those who will take part on the program are H. J. Heintz, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, W. N. Hartshorn, E. K. Warren, W. C. Pearce, Marian Lawrence, W. A. Duncan, founder of the Home Department; Hon. Hiram W. Johnson, governor of California; Dr. George W. Bailey, president of the World's Sunday School Association, and many others of equal prominence in Sunday school work.

Miss McKenzie Will Hold Position in Greensboro Schools

A new office has been created in the city schools by the board of education. It is called the position of supervisor of elementary instruction, and will be filled by Miss Janet McKenzie, of Washington City. The new instructress arrived in the city yesterday and several days will be spent here with Dr. J. L. Mann, superintendent of the Greensboro schools, mapping out a plan of the work to be carried through during the next term. Miss McKenzie is a native of Scotland, and has in her possession a diploma of the Scotland University, which was signed by the late Queen Victoria. She is excellently qualified for the new position as she has spent many years in this work, and her ability is recognized and stated in a number of the highest recommendations. Her presence in the faculty of the city schools will undoubtedly strengthen it greatly and add largely to its sphere of usefulness for the children in attendance there.

Women and Society

Winston Couple Wedded Here.

Miss Beatrice Harrison and W. D. Ellington, of Winston-Salem, were united in marriage last evening at 10 o'clock at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Melton Clark. The couple came over on the 9:15 train and at once procured a license. They will return to their home in Winston today where the groom is engaged in the insurance business.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrison, of Winston, and is a charming and attractive young lady. The groom is a well-known young man of the Twin City. He is a brother of A. G. Ellington of this city.

Johnson-Willingham.

Raleigh, June 7.—At 11 o'clock this morning in the First Baptist church there was the marriage of Miss Foy Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Livingston Johnson of this city and Rev. Calder T. Willingham, of Richmond, son of Rev. R. J. Willingham, Richmond. The ceremony was by the father of the bride, assisted by the father of the bridegroom and was in the presence of large audience. Among those here from a distance for the wedding were Editor Archibald Johnson, of Thomasville, and Mrs. Johnson; Mrs. J. T. J. Battle, of Greensboro; Mrs. W. J. Matthews, Scotland county; and Rev. H. H. McMillan, Scotland county.

Mrs. John Yarboro, accompanied by her son, H. E. Yarboro, and grandson, Master Hubert, all of Mullins, S. C., is visiting her brother, G. C. Hampton, on West Market street.

Miss Iola Bledsoe, of Raleigh, has just returned to her home after a pleasant visit of ten days with her friends and former schoolmates, Misses Ona and Blanche Hodgins, near Centre. Miss Bledsoe was one of the most popular young ladies at the State Normal College this year.

Miss Aileen Hodgins, formerly of Greensboro, now of Charlotte, has returned to her work after a week's vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hodgins.

Mrs. A. B. White has returned from a visit to relatives in Greenville, S. C., accompanied by her nephew and niece, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White, who will also be her guests for some time.

Mrs. R. M. Rees and children will leave today to spend several weeks in Asheville.

Miss Elizabeth March, of Winston-Salem, after a visit to relatives arrived yesterday to be the guest of Mrs. E. J. Y. Preyer.

Mrs. C. B. Elmore, of Brown Summit, arrived in the city yesterday at noon and will be the guest of Mrs. J. C. Montgomery for some time.

Miss Anvulla Lindsay, of Madison, spent yesterday in the city visiting friends.

Mrs. W. S. Taylor, of Mt. Airy, is visiting her brother, Dr. C. W. Banner, on West Market street.

Miss Sarah Cole, who has been visiting Miss Cordye Olive, returned yesterday to her home in Ramsey.

Misses Ruth and Hulda Groome, of Pomona, are the guests of friends in Charlotte.

Miss Josephine Gilmer, after spending the past winter in voice training in a New York conservatory, arrived in the city yesterday and will visit Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Gilmer, on North Elm street, for a week.

Miss Eva Martin is visiting relatives in Charlotte.

Mrs. B. W. Rainey, who has been a patient at St. Leo's hospital for several days, is reported to be improving nicely.

The Glass Was Smashed.

Yesterday afternoon while workmen were engaged in putting in a plate glass in a window of the Fisher building the glass in some way slipped from the grasp of the workmen and fell with a resounding crash that startled those standing in the immediate vicinity. The entire sheet was smashed to pieces and in the fall it struck an adjoining sheet, breaking this also in several places.

The price goes down ten cents every day, except Sunday, and the price is very low to begin with.

Have you looked at our Shoe Window lately?

We are trying a new plan for disposing of odd pairs, sample shoes and broken lots.

They are placed in the window marked in plain figures at a reduced price, and the price is still further reduced TEN CENTS EVERY DAY until the shoes are sold.

Last week a pair of Men's Four Dollar Oxfords went down to $1.50 before they were sold; a $3.50 pair was taken at two dollars; one three dollar pair went at $1.30. Another $3.00 pair at $1.05, and so on.

Keep an eye on the window and don't wait too long or the other fellow will get the pair YOU WANT.

NORTH STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Raleigh, June 7.—The Wednesday morning and afternoon sessions of the Second St. Mary's Conference of the Episcopal clergy and prominent laity of North and South Carolina was characterized by a number of strong addresses bearing on important places of church work. This forenoon there were addresses by Rev. J. F. Mallett, of Salisbury, on "An Open Door, or Filling the Ranks of the Ministry"; and by Rev. Llewellyn N. Caley of Philadelphia on "The Teacher; His Personality and Practice." In the early afternoon there was an address by Eugene M. Camp of New York on "The Churches Missionary Tasks and Progress." Tonight there was an address on "Christian Education" by Rev. W. S. Claiborne. The conference is to continue through Friday.

Out in West Raleigh, the A. and M. College settlement, an organized movement for the elimination of the house fly in that settlement has been started with C. B. Williams, director of the North Carolina experiment station, as chairman. They have adopted the slogan: "Swat the Fly." And Dr. F. L. Stevens of the A. and M. faculty, is chairman of the campaign committee.

Willie Jones, a negro, is held in jail here to await the result of possibly fatal wounds inflicted with a knife on Walter Perry, the row having occurred in St. Matthews township, this county yesterday.

Adjutant General R. L. Leinster, of the North Carolina National guard, made an order today for the disbanding of Company K. Third infantry, Weldon, on account of the company having failed to meet the requirements at the time of the last inspection, made last February, by Inspector General Thomas Stringfield and Lieutenant M. A. Well, of the Seventeenth Infantry, United States Army. M. M. Drake was captain of the company just disbanded. There are ten applications on file from as many towns to be allowed to form a company to take the place of the Weldon company. Two of these are said to be desirably located to succeed Weldon. However, it is probable that there will be no action as to filling the vacancy until after the encampments this summer.

State Senator W. S. Cobb says farming conditions this season in his section are proving very satisfactory. He is marketing 5,000 barrels of Irish potatoes this season at $5 per barrel. The ruling price last season was $2.50 per barrel. Senator Cobb was the only legislator who had an automobile here for use during the 1911 session of the General Assembly.

A good friend of his laughingly, remarked today that he expected next time the Senator came for a session he would bring two automobiles in the light of his successful potato raising.

A. & M. Summer School in Session

The A. and M. college is in the midst of its twelfth annual summer session. A large number of teachers from all parts of the State are in attendance. The regular faculty of the college has been greatly enlarged by some of the best educators of the State and the outlook is quite bright for one of the best sessions in the history of the college.

The daily schedules begin at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and continue until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, allowing one hour and thirty minutes for dinner.

The series of lectures to be given during the summer school will begin on Friday night with a lecture from Dr. J. L. Mann, superintendent of the city graded schools, on the subject of "The Professional Spirit." A very cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these lectures.

Will Deliver Lecture Here Next Tuesday

On next Tuesday night in the Moravian church of South Greensboro, Rev. Edward S. Crosland, of Winston-Salem, will deliver his famous lecture entitled, "Ramblings in Sunny Italy," illustrated by stereoscopic views. Mr. Crosland appears here under the auspices of the Philathea class of that church. In fact, the lecture will be a reappearance, for the speaker recently addressed the Baraca-Philathea convention here and delighted the large audience present with a very pleasing and entertaining talk. Many interested admirers and lovers of the beautiful will undoubtedly attend the lecture.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

DIRE PROBLEMS WITH WHICH RICH NEW YORK CITY DEALS

NEW YORK.—In the heart of Manhattan, Father Knickerbocker has recently erected a shield with which to protect his coffers from the ingratitude of penurious and unfilial children. Technically, this shield is known as the "Division of Domestic Relations, Department of Public Charities." In simpler phrase, it is the court of appeal for every father and mother, whose children refuse to support them in their old age. writes Anna Steese Richardson in the New York World.

Through its doors, day after day, files a line of enfeebled, decrepit, penniless, hopeless humanity pleading for a corner in which they may await the coming of the grim reaper, just a little corner, a little warmth, a little raiment, a little food. And after them files another line of the next generation, some of them sullen, some of them hard, some of them ashamed, but all of them guilty of deliberately shirking their responsibilities as children.

Some of the most able social workers on Father Knickerbocker's payroll are employed in this division of domestic relations. Their work requires a broad knowledge of humanity. They must possess patience to hear both sides of the story, and wisdom to sort truth from falsehood. And above all things, these workers must have the tact and the sympathy to touch chords of tenderness and duty long silent.

The work starts in the basement of the once fashionable brownstone residence, No. 124 East Fifty-ninth street.

"Entrance for applicants," runs the legend, in bright gilt letters, on the door. A stooping, uncertain figure pauses in the doorway and red-rimmed eyes blink at the shiny sign.

Candidates for Alms-house. "That's the place, old woman," says the blue-coated policeman who has followed her from the corner where she stopped to ask for directions. "They'll look after you."

And so she opens the door and steps inside, a candidate for the almshouse at Father Knickerbocker's expense.

The clerk behind the freshly-gilded latticework of fluted iron asks her a few questions. Then comes a quick decision.

"Oh, if you have three sons they must take care of you. You didn't want to go to the almshouse. Go up to the third floor, division of domestic relations, and they will hunt up your sons."

The stooping figure climbs the three steep flights of stairs and totters into the presence of the examiner. Bit by bit the little woman's story is drawn out—her side of the story, you may be sure, for generally each of these cases has two very distinct sides.

For several years she has been caring for the children of a day worker. The day worker has died. The children must go to an orphanage. Nobody wants an old woman like her for caretaker or housekeeper. So she too has decided to go to an institution. Her sons? Oh, they will do nothing. They are poor. They have many children.

Finally the names and addresses of these children are secured and an investigator starts out. Tomorrow or perhaps a few days later they all meet in this same third-floor room—the little mother who prefers to be come a city charge than depend on her own, the three sons and the three daughters-in-law.

The Daughters-in-Law. The little woman says nothing, the sons answer in monosyllables, but, oh, the daughters-in-law! They all three talk at once. And when order is restored various facts are before the examiner.

Daughter-in-law No. 1, buxom, wondrous neat of dress and plain of coiffure, finds it impossible to have his mother live with them. She putters about and messes the house and wants to run it badly, indeed.

Daughter-in-law No. 2, dressed in cheap finery topped by dusty puffs and velvet ribbon band, says they've not money enough to feed their own children, let alone "the old woman."

Daughter-in-law No. 3, sharp of feature and wearing a knitted fascinator over her iron-gray hair, vows she will have no one in her house who keeps a bottle under her mattress. Then the old mother speaks for the first time. "An' don't you like it yourself?" she inquires, looking moist-eyed defiance at her children.

The clamor of voices arises afresh, and, like a judge pounding for order, the examiner brings them all to time—and silence. And at last it is arranged. The slatternly housewife in cheap finery agrees to give the old mother a "corner" in which to sleep and the other two sons agree to contribute a dollar a week to her "keep." It would cost Father Knickerbocker $120 a year to keep her at the almshouse. The investigators are earning their salaries.

But the old mother potters off after her resigned daughter-in-law, weeping fresh tears from her eyes and sighing for the almshouse joys and comforts of which her neighbors had told her. Evidently the "corner" in the son's house does not promise to be very comfortable.

Good Work of Bureau. There are between sixteen and seventeen hundred old people in the almshouse today. There would be double, triple the number if Father Knickerbocker had not opened this bureau of investigation. The high cost of living, the scarcity of work, the increase in rents—all furnish excuse for unfilial conduct.

The daughter-in-law is a tremendous factor in this problem which threatens the municipal coffers and promises to overflow the almshouse with neglected parents. Down in his heart many a son summoned into the presence of this peculiar board of arbitration is quite willing to have the "old man" or the "old woman" come to his home. But his wife, "Aye, there's the rub." She is not willing and he is unequal to coercing her.

There she stands, broad of hip, square of shoulder, her arms folded on her chest, her eyes defiant.

"And what would become of my children if I took that old man into my house, with his bad language and his bad manners? Ain't I got to think of my children? He's a disgrace to us, that's what he is. Look at the dirt of him. And he'd be rushing the can day and night."

"And if I let her come to us," is the next plea, "what'll my girls say? They can't have no company with her putting shame on them. And she'd take the clock off the shelf and pawn it for whiskey, she would!"

"Call of the Can." "The call of the can," another cause of unfilial conduct in city life. And yet the daughter-in-law who likes a "nip" herself, does not realize that some day the thirst may be as strong in her as in the tottering figure waiting to be sentenced to the almshouse or a much grudging corner in the wee flat of her son.

"We have one infallible argument to hand these wives," remarked an examiner, "and that is the bald statement that if the husband is not permitted to house his father or mother, the city will put him under bonds or probation to contribute a certain amount of cold cash every week for the support of his parent. What the wife says or does matters not a mite. The law holds the husband responsible for his parents."

And what happens when the payments are not made? Follow the next couple, a nagging wife, a stolid husband, into the eleventh district court in East Fifty-seventh street. The man has agreed to contribute a dollar a week to the support of his aged mother. He has defaulted in his payments. The couple, who had waited a year for their board, have hailed the son into court. The tearful old mother sits hunched up in a corner of the court room wondering what it is all about. The landlady is determined, the wife alternately scornful and tearful, and the son considerably frightened. A trip to the island will cost him his job. The landlady tells her tale of money due, the old mother weeps in maudlin fashion, the son hears the decision with white face.

"Pay up that board bill or go to the island, and pay it today."

Get the Money Somehow.

The daughter-in-law hurries back to the little flat and somehow gets together the fifty-two dollars. It represents their rent—and perhaps a dispossessed notice. It represents clothes the children need, food that will not let his mother live with them. Oh, yes, there are two sides to the story, no doubt. But if Father Knickerbocker listened to these and wavered, he'd have many, many thousands more in the almshouse.

The next case of this sort to reach the domestic relations court is almost incredible.

The investigators of the division of domestic relations have summoned a husband and wife who refuse to contribute $25 a month to the support of the husband's father. The wife wears a rich gown of shimmering satin, its collarless bodice outlined with good lace on which real diamonds glitter. Her coat is of Persian lamb fur. Her hat is set off by willow plumes that must have cost nearly a hundred dollars. The husband wears a diamond stud, a diamond ring and a handsome overcoat with a deep fur collar. The father whose fate is under discussion is old, feeble and shabby.

Nothing for the "Old Man."

The husband and wife testify that the former is no longer in business and they have no means of support. The clothing they have incautiously worn to court is described as remnants of past wealth and glory, though an expert in styles would pronounce it very much up to date. They haven't a cent to spare for the old man's keep.

Then the investigator takes the stand. He has learned, first, that the father is decent, respectable and sober. Years ago, proud of his only boy, he set him up in business, giving him $10,000 in cash. Bad luck and illness overtook the old man and he became a peddler. Now his health will not permit him to work.

The son has retired from the business founded on the $10,000 gift, owns horses and carriages, lives in an expensive apartment and his wife keeps two servants. How his money is invested, whence his income, the investigator does not know, so cleverly has he shifted the burden of supporting his aged father.

The decision of the court is scathing. The man in the fur-trimmed coat and diamonds will contribute $25 a month to his father's support or go to the island.

Work Never Ending.

Every Friday night in the Eleventh district court, a magistrate hears these tales of filial duty shirked until the division of domestic relations cannot possibly arbitrate. And every day in the week, except Sunday, the investigators of the division headquarters in Fifty-ninth street arbitrate and adjust cases and threaten and cajole ungrateful children.

What type of New Yorker shirks responsibility in this particular form? Mostly what the investigators describe as Americanized foreigners, the children of immigrants. The majority of the cases which finally reach court are those of people from eastern Europe, who through extreme poverty or ignorance of the law fail to keep the agreement made at division headquarters.

Mechanics, from carpenters to tailors, are the general offenders, and, strange to say, penuriousness or shiftlessness, rather than actual poverty, is responsible for the number of old people turned over to Father Knickerbocker by their children.

A rather interesting fact discovered by investigators is that the wage-earning woman feels heavy responsibility for her parents. And when she marries, she insists that her husband share the responsibility with her. Sometimes a silly girl, caught by the lure of cheap finery, dance halls and other amusements, will leave an aged mother or father to his fate, but as a rule the daughter is more responsible, more filial than the son. The son may be willing, but there is his wife. And so, after all, it is the daughter-in-law problem that Father Knickerbocker's investigators most often have to solve.

BIGGEST BIRD'S NEST

The biggest bird's nest in the world, not excepting the stork's, is built by the African grosbeak. It is really a hundred nests or more bound together with closely interwoven sticks, vines and strands of coarse grass, and is not built by a single pair of birds, but by a colony of them. It is of such enormous size that at a little distance it is often mistaken for one of the native huts built in the trees so frequently found in wild tropical countries where man-eating animals abound, and the only way to sleep in safety is to "roost high."

The birds usually select a thorn-tree, probably because of the protection afforded by the sharp, long thorns against marauders. All around the nest the roof of sticks, thatched with dried grass, projects to let the rain run off. A deep fringe of grass hangs from this cornice like a curtain to keep out any stray drops. These great nests are added to from year to year, each pair of mated birds building on the main nest. Sometimes the nest becomes too heavy, and the branch breaks or the great mass of sticks falls to the ground, destroyed by its own weight. The grosbeak is no larger than an English sparrow and just as gregarious.

PUPHEK DANCE IN PARAGUAY

Among the natives of Paraguay when a girl comes of age the event is celebrated by a big feast, the chief feature of which is the puphek dance by the women. It takes its name from the bunches of deer hoofs attached to the long poles which the dancers carry. When struck on the ground they produce a loud jangle to which the dancers, numbering from twenty to thirty, keep step.

SQUIRREL ROBBED THE MAIL

The robbing of the United States mail by a squirrel was a most unusual incident. One of the mail carriers in the city was on his regular rounds, and had among his mail to be delivered an advertising card to which was attached a large walnut, inside of which was the matter advertised. A little squirrel seeing the nut, jumped upon the mail carrier's shoulder and, running down his arm with lightning speed, took the nut and card from his hand, and then climbed a nearby tree, where it investigated the contents of the nut. Fortunately, upon discovering that the nut was not the kind it wanted, the squirrel dropped it and the card without damaging either, and they later were delivered to the proper address.

A CHURCH FOR SWEETHEARTS

A novel plan is that of Rev. John Thompson, pastor of a Methodist church in Wheaton, Ill., to induce young sweethearts couples to do their courting in the church pews, instead of repairing to objectionable ice-cream parlors, etc. He will allow young people to stay late, with a big room and piano in part of the church and 100 pews in which they can sit at their ease.

"There is no better place in the world for young persons to do their courting in than a church," said the pastor. "I believe in matchmaking—that is, the right kind of matchmaking. I think that every church should make provision for upright young men and good young women to meet, and should arrange matters so that they could fall in love with each other."

"This talk about dinners at 'lobster palaces,' expensive seats at theaters and other places is a mistake. A good girl, who really loves a man, does not want to see him make a fool of himself when he is courting her any more than she wants to see him do so after they are married."

CAT THAT GOES TO FIRES

The pet cat belonging to the firemen of an English village has the curious habit of riding to fires on the hook and ladder. It wears a broad collar, studded with firemen's buttons. They have a similarly intelligent cat at the general post office, Farnham. He gets into the mail cart and accompanies the bags to the station and takes frequent long journeys in the mail van. Recently, however, he was sealed up in a mail bag and got as far as Marseilles.

DOG BURIED ALIVE 8 DAYS

When some men were building a straw stack at Temple farm, Roydon, England, an eleven-year-old spaniel which was hunting for rats and mice, got buried in the straw. Eight days later a man heard a faint whining coming from the stack. He removed a quantity of the straw and four feet in the stack he found the dog. On being released it made straight for a pond near by to quench its thirst, and is now none the worse for its imprisonment.

Clearing House Banks Realize $3,000,000 More From Walsh Estate.

Chicago, June 7.—The clearing house banks of Chicago, which took over the assets of John R. Walsh, the former banker, when his bank failed five years ago, have realized $3,000,000 more through the sale of the property and business of the Alliance Coal Company. The Monon Coal Company, affiliated with the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railway Company, the "Monon" route, took over the Alliance properties, which include about 20,000 acres of coal lands in Indiana.

Smaller Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time. TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

Everyone who is troubled with sore, sweaty, or tender feet—swollen feet, smelly feet, corns, calluses or bunions can quickly make their feet well now. Here is instant relief and a lasting permanent remedy—it's called TIZ. TIZ makes sore feet well and swollen feet are quickly reduced to their size. Thousands of ladies have been able to wear shoes a full size smaller with perfect comfort.

It's the only remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powder and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleanses them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists 25 cents per box or direct if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Machinists in the Clyde, Scotland, district have decided not to accept the offer of the employers of an advance of one-half cent per hour on the first day of July. The men asked for an advance of 1 cent per hour on their present rate of 16 cents.

Since January, 1896, when the Molders' International Union established the sick benefit fund system, they have paid to brothers in sickness $1,870,748.45. During the year 1910 they paid in death and disability benefits $59,550.10; for out of work benefits, $146,110.40.

A ballot of members of the Australian Plasterers' Union on the question of the acceptance of the wages board award has resulted in favor of it. The rate of pay has been fixed at $2.90 a day for 44 hours' work.

The City Council of Wheeling, W. Va., passed an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $300,000 for the erection of a filtration plant. A clause in the ordinance specifically declares that union labor only shall be employed.

Efforts are now being made in England to federate the representatives of the railway clerks, the National Union of Clerks, Co-Operative Employees, with the Liverpool and District Council of Shop Assistants.

Plans for the introduction of an eight-hour day for machinists all over the territory extending west from a line starting at St. Louis and thence northward through Central Illinois up into Canada, and to the Pacific coast, have been carefully considered, and preliminary steps taken to secure the result desired.

In Germany the printers had a membership of 62,514 at the end of 1910. This union has a very close and strict agreement with the master, viz.: union members do not work for any employer not in the masters' association and vice versa members of the master's organization employ union men only.

Sixty per cent. of the adult workers of Great Britain receive less than $7.50 weekly wages, according to statistics quoted in the House of Commons by H. J. Tennant, the Parliamentary Secretary for the Board of Trade, in opposing the motion of Will Crooks, the Labor member from Woodwich, for a compulsory minimum wage of $7.50.

Some time ago the sailors in the vessels of the Canadian Pacific asked for better conditions as to hours, food and accommodations, and when the company declined to grant the request the matter was taken to the arbitration conciliatory board, which granted the sailors all they asked and directed the company to comply with the decision.

It is reported that John Mitchell, late chairman of the trades agreement department of the National Civic Federation, will adopt the lecture platform. Two of his lectures are said to be on "The Philosophy, Purposes and Ideals of the Trade Union Movement" and "Industrial Accidents and Compensation to Workmen for Losses Caused by Them."

South Australia is suffering from a barmaid famine. Two years ago barmaids were abolished in the State by act of Parliament. No more could be legally engaged, but those already employed could remain on condition, that they registered themselves. There are now only 400 of them left, and the competition for their services is such that their wages have jumped from $8.25 to $15 a week.

The prolonged strike of the Vienna, Austria, tailors has ended with a very fair measure of success. The rates of wages which hitherto varied from firm to firm, have been settled on a uniform basis for the whole city, and have been raised considerably; the system of shop delegates, to aid as spokesmen and representatives of the men, has been recognized by the masters; and overtime rates have been established, going up to 100 per cent.

Efforts which have been made in England to bring about a fusion of Associated Society of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen with the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, are likely to be successful in the near future. Should other organizations decide to throw in their lot, some 50,000 railwaymen will be affected; the Society of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen have a membership of 20,000; General Railway Workers' Union, 7,000; Railway Clerks' Association, 14,000, and the Signalmen's Mutual Aid Society, 3,000.

After many months of weary negotiations, partial strikes and lock-outs and threats of general lock-out, peace seems at last to be restored. In Denmark, through the workmen have not come off very well. The masters in all trades tried to force the workmen into agreements of long duration, five years being the favorite time, with out an increase of wages or reduction of hours. The blacklayers in the provincial towns and the cabinet makers generally managed to get three years' agreements adopted, and the masters in all trades had to concede some small increases of wages and in some trades a reduction of hours.

Several States have modified the common law defense of "assumed risk" and "contributory negligence" and eleven State Legislatures are debating the enactment of automatic compensation laws for workmen injured in industry.

It is declared that the principles of scientific management, if put into operation throughout the industrial world, would revolutionize the conditions of labor. By increasing the efficiency of the individual and the industrial plant it would be possible to pay men a fair wage for a fair workday, work six shifts of workmen every twenty-four hours and employ no man younger than 21 nor older than 45 years. By increasing the wage scale, with increased output at a lower cost of production through increased efficiency, the young man would be enabled to devote his time to education and the older man to relaxation. The average wage would be greatly increased.

FOOLED FISH WITH MIRROR.

Anglers Land Auto Full of Bass and Pickerel By Clever Trick.

Horrest Hennion and Charles Jacobus returned to Cedar Grove, N. J., from Green Lake yesterday with an automobile full of bass and pickerel. The anglers deceived the fish by using mirrors, and the game warden is seeking a means of punishing them.

Green Pond is noted for its clearness. The anglers sank a mirror face up and fished over it, so that every worm looked like two and attracted the fish. Then they trolled with a hand mirror that was tied to and reflected the night walker on the spinner. They were kept so busy pulling in fish that struck the hooks that they had a boat load in a few hours.—New York American.

"CASCARETS BEST" FOR BILIOUSNESS

The millions of Cascaret users never know the misery of Headache, Coated Tongue or Sick Stomach.

You know when you need Cascarets. You feel a certain dullness and depression—perhaps the approach of a headache. You say, "I am bilious and I must take something tonight." But why do you waste the day? It is easy to keep at your best at all times if you'll do it. The way is to carry a box of Cascarets with you. Take one just as soon as you need it. Then the clouds rise at once.

The need for Cascarets is a natural need. Don't think that you are drugging yourself. We must get a laxative some way. If we don't get it through exercise and through proper food, we must get it otherwise. Cascarets are the next best way.

Ask your doctor about it. He will tell you that the day of the violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts, castor oil and cathartics, is past. This is the day of the gentle in medicine, the natural, the pleasant. Cascarets act just as certain foods act—just as exercise acts—on the bowels—on the liver. Get a 10 cent box and take one now.

SENATE COOL TO CANADIAN BILL

Republicans In That Body Show No Enthusiasm.

HEARINGS CHANGED FEELING.

Recall of Judges Provokes Much Argument—Point Made That Jurist Who Would Be Influenced by Fear of Losing His Job Is the One Who Should Not Be on the Bench.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 7.—(Special)—Danger signals are displayed by the senate advocates of Canadian reciprocity. It may be that the alarm has gone forth simply for the purpose of stirring the friends of the measure to greater activity, but the fact remains that those who are really for the measure are not very confident.

Curiously enough, there does not seem to be any Republican who is dead in earnest for it, as there was in the house. The senate Republicans are listless. Chairman Penrose is supposed to be the man who will have charge of the bill, but it is noted that nearly all the other members of the finance committee on the Republican side are earnest fighters against the measure with the exception of Cullom and Lodge, who do not display any great interest in pushing it forward.

It is said that both of these senators have been somewhat shaken by the testimony against the bill presented by the farmers.

Debating the Recall.

Opposition to the recall of officials by the people makes its strongest stand on the subject of judges. It may be that the large number of lawyers in congress are responsible for the expressions of doubt about the recall of judges, but certainly the discussion of the statehood resolution showed that there were many who considered the recall of judges little short of criminal. The point made was that judges might be influenced to give wrong decisions because they would fear the loss of their places if they displeased the people.

"If such a man was on the bench," said one of the advocates of the recall, "he is just the kind that ought to be recalled. The worst kind of judge is the one who is influenced by fear of losing his position, whether he receives it from the people or from the executive."

The Pension Ghost.

A lot of Democratic members in Ohio, Indiana and other northern states where there are many old soldiers have been promising "dollar a day" pensions to the veterans, and they are going to have some difficulty in making good. Already the pension question has bobbed up in the house, and there is a prospect that it will come as frequently as Banquo's ghost. General Sherwood of Ohio is an earnest advocate of the dollar a day pension, but there are many southern Democrats who do not wish to pass it just now, especially as they are trying to reduce the tariff. If the bill ever gets before the house it will go through with a whoop. The trouble just now is to get a Democratic caucus indorsement of the measure.

Was This a Dream?

A Democratic employee of the house declares that he saw Uncle Joe Cannon scooting about Rock Creek park recently in the speaker's automobile. "While Champ Clark was riding around in the street cars," he indignantly added.

Just how the ex-speaker was in possession of this famous machine, which should be in the possession of the actual speaker, is not known. Clark has refused to use the machine or keep it up. Congress refused to appropriate for its maintenance while Uncle Joe used it, and Clark asserts that he cannot afford to run it.

There was a supposition that the machine was snugly ensconced in some secure place about the capitol, and possibly the Democratic employee was in a dream or in a trance which carried him back one year.

McCumber's Humor.

Senator McCumber is of Scotch ancestry and is not supposed to be very humorous. But once in awhile he displays the inference. A man was fiercely attacking the newspapers in the hearing on the reciprocity bill.

"I think," said McCumber, "that you have read so rapidly that the reporters of the press were not able to take it down." And he had the man read the statement over again.

Hitchcock's Room.

"These Democrats are getting altogether too particular," said a Republican sarcastically, one of the many who do not like the postmaster general. "Now, why should they make such a fuss about the expensive furnishings of Frank Hitchcock's rooms? What difference does it make if he sits in a $200 chair leaning on a $500 desk while reading a letter from a congressman, which he tosses into a thirty-five dollar wastebasket?"

"Of course there are people who say they would like to have the postmaster general in more modest and less expensive quarters—that is, if he would only stay in them. I would be in favor of making them still more luxurious if we could only induce Hitchcock to stay there part of the time."

Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success: "Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."

Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?

Take your own home. Have you your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Hand-painted finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated).

ATTACK ON ROBERT HOE

Husband of Woman Suing Hoe Heirs Makes Assault.

New York, June 7.—Arthur Johns, a lawyer, was arraigned in the night court tonight, charged with having assaulted Robert Hoe, son of the late book collector and printing press manufacturer. Johns was released on a bond of $500 to keep peace for four months.

Johns is the husband of Mrs. Margaret Johnson Brown Johns, who is suing the Hoe heirs for $250,000 in securities, the title of which she claims to have received from the late Robert Hoe, while acting as his amanuensis.

Johns met young Hoe at the entrance to the latter's home tonight, and it was charged, struck Hoe a blow that sent him to the ground. Mr. Hoe, however, was not seriously injured.

The motive for the assault seems to have been Johns' belief that young Hoe was responsible for some of the newspaper publicity which has been used, he said, against his wife.

PATRIOTS RETURN HOME FOR SERIES OF THREE GAMES

Andersonians Will be Guests of Doyle's Bunch Remainder of Week—Eldridge Will Officiate Today—Bill Bentley Goes With Charleston.

Doyle's Patriots returned last night from Greenville, where they won the only two games played this week and are ready for the initial contest of a series of three games with the Anderson Electricians, which will be pulled off at Cone Athletic park this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The Anderson team, with jovial Jim Kelly as manager is always popular here, and a good crowd expected at the games this afternoon and the rest of the week.

A new outfield line-up will be presented this afternoon. Clapp will probably be transferred from left garden to right field, and Corwin, who has recovered from a sprained ankle is expected to go to left. Rickard will still be in center field, from which vantage point he will continue to cover all that territory anywhere near his position. The new line-up will give the Patriots even better fielding than heretofore, for Corwin is very fleet of foot and a clean fielder.

While every one regrets to see Bentley go, it will be generally conceded that with Corwin back in the game the Patriots will have the same heavy batting team that it has had. In the games Corwin has played he has outbatted Bentley. Corroll's batting average is picking up wonderfully, while Klapp is hitting at a rate that puts him among the topnotchers of the league. Rickard, Doak and Fuller are also batting in the .300 class.

Carroll is a good outfielder, as well as sharing honors with Corwin for the place of best short-stop in the league, and Manner Doyle can shift the two Corwin and Carroll—at any time he thinks the team will be strengthened by so doing.

Everything is moving smoothly in the Patriot camp just now, and no matter what is said to the contrary, Greensboro fans know that they have "the best team in the circuit."

"Togo" Bentley was in the city yesterday, having returned from Greenville in order to gather up his personal effects, and in the afternoon left for Columbus, Ga., to join the Charleston, S. C. team in the South Atlantic League today. He has just signed a contract with that team at a salary of $175, or $50 more a month than he was receiving in Greensboro.

Bentley has been with the Greensboro club since the latter part of the first season in the league, and he has won the affection of the baseball-loving public of the Gate City, as well as being one of the most popular fellows in other towns of the circuit. Here's a hoping for him abundant success with the Charleston club.

CAROLINA LEAGUE GAMES RAINED OUT

Rain yesterday prevented any games in the Carolina Association. There will be double headers, most likely, when the teams again play at the places games were scheduled for yesterday. Today there is a shift of the teams, Anderson coming to Greensboro, Winston going to Spartanburg and Charlotte to Greenville.

UNABLE TO FIND POISON.

Evidence in Scheib Investigation Favorable to Accused.

New York, June 7.—Few, if any, new facts of importance to substantiate the State's charge of wife murder against Henry A. Scheib were brought out in the examination of a dozen witnesses for the prosecution at Scheib's examination today. Indeed, the chief development of the day, the preliminary oral report of Professor John Larkin, of Columbia University, to the effect that he had been unable to find any traces of poison in the internal organs of the victim of the bathtub mystery, was of a nature to gratify counsel for the accused.

While it has not, been specifically alleged in what manner Scheib's wife came to her death, it is understood that the prosecution expected to make out a case of poisoning.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Today.
Anderson at Greensboro.
Charlotte at Greenville.
Winston at Spartanburg.

Baseball today.

Game will be called at 4:30.

"Smiling Jim" Kelly will be seen here again.

Now for three games from the Anderson Electricians.

Winston didn't gain a point on us yesterday.

Guess Greenville fans are grateful for yesterday's rain.

"Rube" Eldridge will officiate on the mound for the locals today.

Manager Doyle and the Patriots returned from Greenville last night.

See no need of losing a single game this week.

Looks as if that bunch of Twins are no more in a humor to lose a game than Doyle's men.

"Togo" Bentley's smiling countenance and cheerful voice will be missed by many fans.

Few men in the circuit were more thoroughly liked than was the genial "Togo." We wish for him abundant success with Charleston.

The Charlotte hammers have been temporarily laid away, but we fear they will be used many times more before the season is over.

Old Man Has Been Adjudged Insane

The local police authorities have filed an application of admission to the State insane asylum for John H. Chrisman, a white resident from Washington township. The old man is about 60 years of age and his madness might rather be termed dotage, so absolutely harmless is he to all appearances. However, he was pronounced insane by Dr. A. B. Fortune after an examination and was yesterday morning committed to the county jail, pending his reception in the asylum.

"Turtled Baseball" From the Charlotte Chronicle.
Greensboro refuses to lose a game as long as Winston wins.

Things are looking just a little bit brighter for the locals just now.

Those Twins ain't much on beauty, but they have such winnin' ways.

Greenville is gradually getting away from the .500 mark on the downward side.

The Hornets are making a slight demonstration like they were getting back in the game these days.

It's a pity we have to read of the Winston game in a language that resembles a cross between African and Chinese.

About the time Kelly thinks he's got a winning line-up, some team comes along and spoils the combination.

Some of the Winston paragraphs seem too full for utterance, judging from the lingo used in telling about it.

And just to think that some one predicted that Greensboro would lose on the road. It is possible that the wish was father to the prediction this time.

The Charlotte fans and the directors of the Charlotte club are anxious to get into the Sally League, but first they must get out of the Carolina circuit with satisfaction to the association.

The "anvil chorus" has been going so strong in the Electric City that the following paragraph appeared in a recent issue of The Anderson Mail: "President Means says that any man who wants a license to 'knock' can obtain one by applying to him and signing the guarantee list. There are a few vacant spaces."

Amateur Baseball.
Yesterday afternoon the Asheboro Street ball team defeated the Ashe Street team by the score of seven to six. The features of the game was a double play, Sumner to Bain. Batteries—Faulkner, Sumner and Rives; Burge, Carroll, Helper and McCauley.

County Buys Valuable Property.
Guilford county yesterday figured in a rather important deal in real estate by which the county commissioners bought the old Mendenhall building in the rear of the courthouse from Judge W. P. Bynum at a purchase price of $16,500. No plans have yet been formulated for the use of the building but for the present it will continue to be used for offices by lawyers. The county will assume charge on Jan. 1, when the purchase price becomes due.

In Superior Court.
The first case on the calendar in Superior court this morning will be that of Tompkins vs. Wray for the recovery of a sum of money in a damage suit. The case of Ludwig and Brame vs. George T. Penny for the recovery of damages to the amount of $2,000 was turned over to the jury about 2 o'clock yesterday and that body awarded damages in the sum of $500.

Municipal Court Session Very Brief

After several clogged and very busy sessions the shortness of the docket in municipal court yesterday morning was quite a relief. Only one case came before His Honor. Tom Henry, a negro youth of 18 years, was the sole defendant on the charge of jumping on passing trains and engines about the West Lee street crossing. A watchman of the railway complained to the police about the dangerous habits of the youth and he was accordingly taken in charge. He was proven guilty and taxed with the costs as a gentle hint against such conduct.
